Let us resort to the cold analysis of the figures, upon which all the probabilities must be based, so far as present speculation is concerned.

At the Presidential election of 1892 there was a total of 12,154,542 votes cast.
Of these the Democratic candidate received, of the popular vote, 5,556,583; of the electoral vote, 277, carrying 23 States solidly and dividing the Electoral vote in four, viz: California, Michigan, North Dakota and Ohio.

The Republican candidate received on the popular vote 5,175,977; of the Electoral vote, 145, carrying 14 States solidly and dividing the Electoral vote in five, viz: California, Michigan, North Dakota, Ohio and Oregon.

The People's candidate received on the popular vote 1,122,045; of the Electoral vote 23, carrying four States solidly and dividing the Electoral vote in two, viz: North Dakota and Oregon.

The Prohibition candidate polled 270,191 votes and the Socialist Labor candidate 21,191, neither receiving any Electoral votes. The Electoral vote cast in 1892 is as follows:

FOR THE DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE.

Alabama	11	Missouri	17
Arkansas	8	New Jersey	10
California	8	Nebraska	4
Connecticut	6	New York	36
Delaware	3	North Carolina	11
Florida	4	North Dakota	3

Indiana	15	Tennessee	12

Total	145

FOR THE PEOPLE'S CANDIDATE.

Colorado	4	North Dakota	1
Idaho	3	Oregon	1
Kansas	10	Nevada	3
Total	23

Admitting the Republican claim that Governor McKinley will carry the States of Connecticut, Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey and New York, although that is improbable in at least two of the States named, it is but reasonable to say that there is nothing in the present situation to lead to the belief that he can do any better in the other States than did General Harrison, if, indeed, he can carry several of the States which gave their Electoral vote to the latter in 1892.

It is also a safe proposition to say that the States which cast their Electoral vote for General Weaver in 1892 will cast them for William J. Bryan in 1896.

SOME PLAIN FACTS.

We are therefore to subtract the 63 electoral votes of the States of Connecticut, Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey and New York from the 227 received by Mr. Cleveland and add them to the 145 received by General Harrison, which would give Bryan 214 and McKinley 208, leaving the Democratic candidate 10 and the Republican candidate 10 short of an election. Then, as we have the right to do, let us add the 23 votes cast for Weaver to Bryan's column, and omitting for the present the vote of Utah, and he has 238. By this test, which is probably the true one, Governor McKinley is defeated.

Next try it by another test.

There are certain States that are reasonably sure to cast their Electoral votes for Governor McKinley, and other States that are fairly debatable. Let us take them in order:

STATES FOR MR. BRYAN.

Alabama	11	Nevada	3
Arkansas	8	North Dakota	3
California	9	South Carolina	11
Colorado	4	South Dakota	4

STATES FOR GOVERNOR MCKINLEY.

Connecticut	6	New York	36

STATES THAT ARE DEBATABLE.

Illinois	24	Ohio	22
Iowa	13	Oregon	4
Kansas	10	Wisconsin	12
Michigan	9	Minnesota	9
Total	109

SITUATION SUMMED UP.

Here we find Mr. Bryan 14 and Governor McKinley 96 short of an election, and each has 109 votes in eight debatable States to draw from. If Mr.
Bryan, according to the foregoing calculations, should carry either Illinois, Michigan or Ohio alone, or Iowa and Oregon, or Kansas and Oregon, or Wisconsin and Oregon, he would be a winner, whereas Governor McKinley would have to carry the seven States, exclusive of Oregon or Minnesota, to get the requisite number of votes.

Assuming that Mr. Bryan carries the States assigned him in the first table, and gets 14 votes in the debatable States; he will have precisely enough to elect, and the history of 1876 will be largely repeated, since the three votes from Utah would settle the Presidency.
In 1876 a Democratic House admitted Colorado to the Union, believing that its three Electoral votes would help to swell the column of Democratic Electors, but they were cast for Mr. Hayes, giving him three Electoral votes which otherwise he could not have received, and Samuel J. Tilden would have been President without question.

A Republican Congress admitted Utah as much for its Electoral votes as for anything, if not more, and it is already certain that these Electoral votes will be cast against the Republican candidate.

RECAPITULATION.

The electoral vote is as follows: Alabama, 11; Arkansas, 8; California, 9; Colorado, 4; Connecticut, 6; Delaware, 3; Florida, 4; Georgia, 13; Idaho, 3; Illinois, 24; Indiana, 15; Iowa, 13; Kansas, 10; Kentucky, 13; Louisiana, 8; Maine, 6; Maryland, 8; Massachusetts, 15; Michigan, 14; Minnesota, 9; Mississippi, 9; Missouri, 17; Montana, 3; Nebraska, 8; Nevada, 3; New Hampshire, 4; New Jersey, 10; New York, 36; North Carolina, 11; North Dakota, 3; Ohio, 23; Oregon, 4; Pennsylvania, 32; Rhode Island, 4; South Carolina, 9; South Dakota, 4; Tennessee, 12; Texas, 15; Vermont, 4; Virginia, 12; Washington, 4; West Virginia, 6; Wisconsin, 12; Wyoming, 3; Utah, 3. Total, 448.
Necessary to a choice, 225.

Effect of Law on Bullion Value.

A resident of Great Bend, Kas., writes to the local gold organ:

"If, with free silver 10 to 1 prior to 1873, silver was at a premium and out of circulation, why will it, under same conditions now, depreciate and drive gold out?"

"I have asked this of another leading Republican paper, and get no answer. Such questions are proposed daily, and as they must be met, I am desirous of all the light possible to meet them."

The local gold organ thus appealed to determined to make a gallant reply to answer, and this is the result:

"The reason why the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the rate of 16 to 1 in 1896 or 1897 would not restore the market value of silver dollars to a premium of 8 cents or even to par, is because all the national legislatures and parliaments on earth are impotent to restore the conditions of 1873. They could no more make an ounce of silver worth $1.32 now anything than they could make a sewing machine that is selling for $25 worth $90, or the price for which it was sold in 1873."

"What the local gold organ does not know about the effect of free coinage on the market value of silver would fill a large book."

"It probably does not know that without in four days after free coinage on private account was stopped by India in June, 1893, the market value of silver bullion fell from 82 cents an ounce to 65 cents an ounce throughout the world."

It probably does not know that silver was worth $1.32 an ounce throughout the world in 1873, because France had her mints open to free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at 16 to 1, which ratio necessarily made silver worth in all markets $1.32 per ounce. It was the law of France, and nothing else, which made silver worth $1.32 an ounce instead of $1.29 per ounce and raised the value of the bullion in an American silver dollar 3 cents above par.

Nervous debility is a common complaint especially among women. The best medical treatment for this disorder is a persistent course of Ayer's Sarsaparilla to cleanse and invigorate the blood. This being accomplished, nature will do the rest.

We are therefore to subtract the 63
electoral votes of the States of Connecticut, Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey and New York from the 227 received by Mr. Cleveland and add them to the 145 received by General Harrison,
which would give Bryan 214 and McKinley 208, leaving the Democratic candidate 10 and the Republican candidate 10 short of an election. Then, as we have the right to do, let us add the 23 votes cast for Weaver to Bryan's column, and omitting for the present the vote of Utah, and he has 238. By this test, which is probably the true one, Governor McKinley is defeated.

Next try it by another test.

There are certain States that are reasonably sure to cast their Electoral votes
for Governor McKinley, and other States that are fairly debatable. Let us take
them in order:

STATES FOR MR. BRYAN.

Alabama	11	Nevada	3
Arkansas	8	North Dakota	3
California	9	South Carolina	11
Colorado	4	South Dakota
